

Healthcare Strategy Consultant

Competitive salary, Regular Nationwide Travel.

If you are looking for a new challenge and are passionate about improving the NHS, this is the role for you. We are hiring in our Strategy Team.

Attain is the largest independent health advisory and delivery organisation in the UK and often cited by staff as 'an inspiring place to work'. We are seeking a talented individual who has both the technical competences and relationship building skills required to deliver real value to our customers. You will work as part of our Strategy Team on engagements nationwide. The purpose of the role is to lead the development of strategy, new models of care and transform clinical services within the NHS.

The successful candidate will have experience in strategy, consulting and programme and project management, working with customers across the lifecycle of projects and programmes to deliver outstanding results for our customers. Further details of the role can be found on the job description.

As a service delivery organisation, our staff work in a variety of locations all over England and as such you may need to be flexible with regards to travel and working away from home in response to customer requirements.

Key Responsibilities:

- Work in partnership with provider and commissioning leaders to transform regional and local care systems
- Develop coherent strategies to secure the sustainability of health and wellbeing services
- Lead the development and implementation of innovative care models, designed to improve outcomes for the population
- Lead teams to deliver large strategy programmes
- Deploy a consulting toolkit - including strategic analysis, business case development and planning
- Engage with patients, clinicians, carers and wider stakeholders so that they remain central to all decisions

Knowledge, Skills and Experience:

- Experience of working in or with the NHS for two or more years
- Management consulting experience is desirable
- Qualification in PRINCE2, and/or similar methodology
- Evidence of delivering strategy projects in an NHS setting
- Experience at board/sub board level leading programmes or multiple workstreams in complex change programmes, or senior operational management experience
- Proven track record of delivering tangible results
- Experience in leading teams through delivery of projects
- Evidence of ability to engage and build strong relationships with senior-level clients, front line staff, patients and carers
- Resilience and flexibility to meet changing demands
